Dear Sirs:

I am adamantly opposed to the implementation of an excise tax being imposed on my health care based on it's cost. It is my understanding that there will be a 40% excise tax added to people paying above a defined level.

You are no doubt aware the cost of numerous expenses in Alaska are above and beyond similar expenses in the lower 48.. As just one example, my electric bill is 128% higher than than the national average. If you will do some fact checking you'll find that Alaska is currently far above the national average (29% above according to some studies).
